
SF4M Newsletter #21

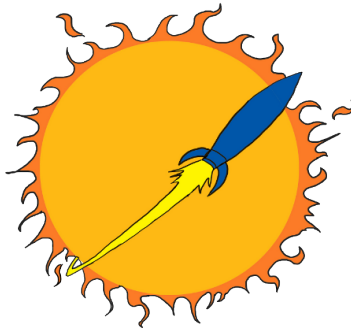

SBU Science Fiction <sf4m.library.gmail.com@getresponsesend.com>

Sat, May 4 at 9:57 PM

Reply-To: <sf4m.library@gmail.com>

To: Erin Petersen <erin.petersen@stonybrook.edu>

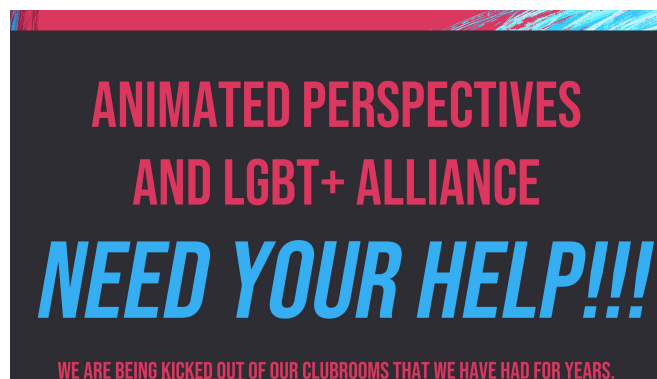

Science Fiction Forum Newsletter #21

Week of 4/29 - 5/3

Upcoming Events

- None! BUT- sign this petition!

Click me!

GBM Notes:

- New Business:
 - Last newsletter for this semester! Have a great summer! Good luck on finals!
 - Next semester open hours will be Mon-Fri 11AM-7PM. To know when the room is open use the "Forum Open" channel.
 - Return your library books.
 - New allocations:
 - No new allocations!
 - Request more for next semester with this form!
- Old Business:
 - Keep the room clean and yourself. Clean up tables/floors after eating.
 - Be nice, stay genre. Please use the complaint form, located on the discord server under rules and announcements, if anything comes up. Use it for anything- big or small.
 - Follow the rules of the Forum posted at the front of the room.
 - Join the PR Committee! Become a Sub AC!

Historian Story:

Bilal Jr.

Happy birthday to our dear Forumite friend BILAL. On this day we will tell his story for all to know. Bilal joined us in the Forum in the same year as I did (2021). He was a math major here at Stony Brook (after coming from two other colleges). His heart was not with the math major, however, but more with CS. He was always working on some fun coding project, and was applying for jobs while here at Stony Brook. After a year and a half, he landed a six figure job with Amazon out in Texas. This was contingent on his graduation, however he was likely not going to graduate in time, and in the end he was unable to. He told them: "Hey uh, I didn't graduate yet," and they said: "Yeah, whatever." So now he's off in Texas making lots of money with no degree. On his way out, during his last semester with us, we had a lot of budget left over that needed to be spent. So he allocated for a > $200 Carrom board, and played it a couple times before he left never to play it again. We named the board Bilal Jr, and it lives in a dark corner of the library now.

Follow our socials!

Linktree

Our website

, 100 Nicolls Rd., Stony Brook, NY 11794, United States

You may unsubscribe or change your contact details at any time.

Powered by:

GetResponse